Rock Quarry Opponents Plan Thursday Rally

After collecting more than 800 signatures of people opposed to a new rock quarry near New Braunfels, the leaders of Comal Residents for Rural Heritage and Greater Edwards Aquifer Alliance will meet this Thursday night to continue their fight.

WHO: Comal Residents for Rural Heritage, a local group concerned citizens opposed to the new rock quarry being planned in Comal County

Featured speaker: Annalisa Peace, Executive Director of Greater Edwards Aquifer Alliance

Note: The Greater Edwards Aquifer Alliance has teamed up with the Comal Residents for Rural Heritage in an effort to stop this quarry.

WHAT: Meeting for opponents of a new rock quarry in New Braunfels. Comal County residents who signed the petition are invited

WHERE: Senior Citizens Center at 655 Landa Street, New Braunfels

WHEN: Thursday, April 3, 6:30 p.m

Media will have the opportunity to interview members of the organizations and opponents of the quarry, to take pictures and video, and will be given a press release about the continuing efforts.

WHY: Leaders of the two groups are bringing together petition signers to update them on plans to continue fighting the quarry. This quarry would be surrounding Comal County's flood control dam which could harm the aquifer. There are many other environmental concerns including the presence of the endangered Golden Cheeked Warbler on the site. Neighbors are also concerned about blasting, dust, dirty trucks, and declining property values.
